AI in the Law

The role of AI in law practice now and in the future

A free, virtual event!

Although many people do not consider the practice of law as being on the cutting edge of technology, lawyers have relied on artificial intelligence applications for several years now. AI contributes to e-discovery, due diligence review, court sentencing evaluations, and litigation analysis. Lawyers have also begun experimenting with generative AI platforms in numerous tasks, such as producing communications and creating content for marketing.

What does this technology mean for lawyers now and in the future? How much can attorneys rely on AI in their practices? What does the future of law look like if AI plays a prominent role in it?

This Milstein Lecture presentation provides an overview of AI in the law and explores existential questions about being a lawyer when AI can perform (with varying success) many lawyerly functions.

Agenda

- What Is Artificial Intelligence?
- How Are Lawyers Using AI?
- AI Under the Rules of Professional Conduct
- Generative AI in the Practice of Law
- The Future of AI and the Law
- Practical Concerns and Planning for the Future
- Access to Justice
- Does AI Represent an Existential Crisis for Lawyers?

Featured Speaker

John F. Weaver, Esq., of McLane Middleton in Woburn and Boston is chair of the firm's artificial intelligence practice. His practice includes conducting risk assessments of AI systems, advising clients concerning AI policies and best practices, and counseling clients regarding emerging legal and practical issues in AI. John also serves on the steering committee for the American Bar Association's Artificial Intelligence & Robotics National Institute. He is the author of Robots Are People Too: How Siri, Google Car, and Artificial Intelligence Will Force Us to Change Our Laws, a contributing writer at Slate focusing on legal issues implicated by AI and autonomous devices, and a columnist for and member of the board of editors of The Journal of Robotics, Artificial Intelligence & Law.

About the Milstein Lecture Series

The Richard S. Milstein Lecture Series is made possible through the generosity of MCLE's founding director, Richard S. Milstein, Esq., who values the importance of scholarly dialog on the present and future life of the law in Massachusetts. Prior speakers for the lecture series include Nina Totenberg of National Public Radio; Adam Liptak of The New York Times; Ronald Suskind of Harvard Law School; Neal Katyal of Georgetown University Law Center and Hogan Lovells, Washington, D.C., and Professor Akhil Reed Amar of Yale University.

You're invited to this lecture as Mr. Milstein's guest!

To help MCLE continue to attract top national thought leaders and sustain this free series, please consider making a tax-deductible contribution to the Richard S. Milstein Lecture Series Fund.

Dates & Location

Register at www.mcle.org

BROADCAST CC
Thursday, November 30, 2023
4:00 pm–5:00 pm
Program # 2240339RB1

REBROADCAST CC
Tuesday, December 5, 2023
12:00 pm–1:00 pm
Program # 2240339RB2

REBROADCAST CC
Wednesday, December 13, 2023
1:00 pm–2:00 pm
Program # 2240339RBC

ON DEMAND WEBCAST CC
View after Wednesday, December 13, 2023
Program # 2240339WBA

Tuition (includes written materials)

- FREE

Materials

- E-materials link emailed upon registration
- Transcript & videorecording emailed 2 weeks post-program

CLE Credits

Earn up to 1 CLE credit