

AI in the Massachusetts Courts

Hear the perspectives of three sitting Massachusetts state court judges as to how AI is impacting, and is likely to impact, the operations of our state courts now and in the future

The legal professional stands at the threshold of a new age brought on by the development and introduction of generative artificial intelligence (AI) applications that promise to revolutionize the practice of law. Much has been said by practitioners, technology consultants, and legal pundits about the implications of AI for the practice of law, but what do the courts think? This moderated, one-hour program offers the perspectives of three sitting Massachusetts state court judges as to how AI is impacting, and is likely to impact, the operations of our state courts now and in the foreseeable future.

Agenda

- How AI Currently Is Being Used by Litigants in the Massachusetts Courts
- Massachusetts Court Policies and Expectations re: the Use of AI by Litigants
- Present and Potential Uses of AI by the Courts
- Will There Be Funding Available for Court Adoption of AI?
